LIFT OFF CORNS, MAGIC! NO PAIN

Drop Freezone on a touchy corn then lift that corn off with fingers

Tiny bottles cost only a few cents.

Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. It doesn't pain one bit. Yes, magic! Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Freezone for a few cents sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the much talked of ether discovery of a Cincinnati genius.

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Pilsin Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh, and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curves of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness. Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by People's Drug Stores in Washington and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body-cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance, the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

ARMY TO ABANDON LOCAL FLYING FIELD

Bolling Field, Washington's aviation center and aerial defense base, is to be abandoned by the army, it is announced, and preparatory steps have already been taken for its closing.

Bolling Field is located on the eastern bank of the Potomac, just north of the steel plant. It is about three-quarters of a mile long by a half mile in width. The naval air station is located just to the west of the field.

The field is laid out on reclaimed land, and is Government property. It was the consensus of opinion among army aviators that the field was exceptionally well located and adapted for army aeronautical use and preparatory plans had been made for its development and improvement, a work which it was estimated would take about $500,000.

This plan met with the approval of Maj. Gen. Charles T. Menoher, director of the army air service. It was desired to hold the field as a training field and show place for the National Capital.

The expenditures which would have been required, however, caused it to be looked upon with disfavor by the general staff. Secretary Baker, accepting the views of the general staff, ordered the field to be abandoned as soon as it could be done without injury to the service.

During Bolling Field's entire history it has been one of the most successful fields in the country. There have been remarkably few accidents, and there has only been one fatality. This occurred on April 2, 1919, when Lieut. Thomas E. Graves, a skillful and experienced flyer, fell from a height of 2,000 feet when a scout plane which he was testing collapsed in midair.

Many of the most noted aviators of this and foreign countries have flown from Bolling Field and practically all types of planes from the huge Caproni and the Handley-Page down through the list of British and French scout and battle planes, a German Fokker, and all the American types have gone up from the field.

SAYS GARNER DID NOT CAPTURE APE

BALTIMORE, June 9.—To spend two and a half years in the identical part of Africa Roosevelt made famous through his scientific expedition, to return with a larger and more valued collection of wild animals and birds than Roosevelt brought back, especially to capture the nearest specimen to the "missing link" of the ape family yet apprehended, and then, when it was all over, to discover some one else had calmly appropriated the credit for these achievements would cause most men a decided shock. Yet it is exactly what the young Baltimore scientist, Prof. Charles B. Aschmeier, who has just arrived home after heading the most successful African expedition the Smithsonian Institute ever sent out, claims has been his lot. The story sent broadcast throughout the country to the effect that Prof. R. L. Garner, known as the Monkey Man, either managed the expedition or captured the "missing link," he declares is untrue. Among other things, the ape for which Prof. Garner takes credit was not taken by Prof. Garner, but by himself, Aschmeier asserted yesterday afternoon. And as for being able to converse with monkeys, he stated as his candid opinion that neither Prof. Garner nor any other man had made any progress in this line. The natives of the jungle, but a bit removed in intelligence from the apes, are unable to hold conversation with them, although it is a fact that to all appearances the apes do have a language of their own.

SAYS WAR FUSED NORTH AND SOUTH

"There is no North or South in this country any more," said Congressman Charles M. Stedman yesterday at exercises in Arlington Cemetery in memory of the Confederate dead buried there. "Today we are all Americans; the two sections were fused in the heat of battle in the late war."

The annual services for Confederate soldiers and sailors were held under auspices of the Confederate Veterans' Association, Sons of Confederate Veterans, United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Southern Relief Society. Congressman Stedman, of North Carolina, himself a Confederate veteran, was the orator. He outlined the honorable record of the sons of the South in the war. The Southern cross in flowers was unveiled by Miss Caroline B. Lufford and Miss Marie Louise Owens. The graves of the Confederate dead were strewn with flowers, and the tomb of the unknown dead and that of Gen. "Joe" Wheeler were decorated.

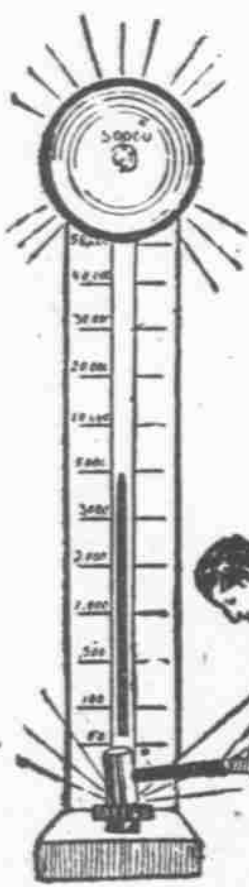

The Rev. Dr. Randolph McKim pronounced the invocation, and the benediction was given by Rev. J. A. Norton. The National Quartet sang.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN HONOR TWO OF THEIR OFFICERS

In appreciation of their services during the last year, the officers of Camp No. 4, Patriotic Order of America, presented handsome bouquets to Mrs. Nellie Stowe, orator, and Mrs. Martha D. McKinley, vice president, at a reception Friday evening at the hall, 623 Louisiana avenue. Mrs. M. Seaggs spoke on patriotism and Mrs. Hester Burke read a poem. Mrs. J. Richards and Mrs. J. Gatewood sang a duet. Mrs. Champney recited. Mrs. Barnhart, Mrs. Kyle, Mrs. Ricker, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. M. Locarione, and Mrs. Beckwith took parts in a dialogue. Refreshments were served and the orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the opening of the exercises.
